Quality Policy – ISO 9001

The satisfaction of our clients is an essential goal for our organization. The implementation of a management quality system based on the ISO 9001 procedures allows us to judge the effects of the structured quality policy and so contributes to a continuous improvement. In this context, the quality management was expanded to our new production line for our passive fire protection products.

The proposed and followed education by everybody of the Nestaan staff proves the engagement of each person at every level, from the directors to the workforce. Quality is a main objective for all of us. To achieve our goals, we forge to build up relationships with suppliers who feel the same about quality as we do.

The implemented dynamic system and its indicators makes it possible for us to take the necessary decisions to lead our company, this based on concrete facts and figures by which we can assure a continuity in quality of our products and services.
